LIVE AND LET LIVE FOLKS.

Vienna bread is in great demand for conservation.

Eternal vigilance is the price of the Austrian capital.

When the Austrian cupboard is bare the Austrian cabinet is vacant.

We are all creatures of habit, and the thrift stamp habit is an excellent one. Cultivate it.

When the Germans attempt a raid on American troops they are none, being with a large and active buzz-saw.

It is now reported also that Hindenburg is in an insane asylum. Planning the war required a madman and carrying it out made a lunatic.

From study of the Kaiser's speeches and actions alienists affirm that he has long been insane. "Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad."

The girl who married six soldiers in succession and secured an allotment from each of them should have gone into Wall St. She has all the makings of a high financier.

It was a pity that General Funston received his cue for an exit before the great war act began. He would have loved to be cast for a part in it and would have played his part well.

If gratitude is due to the man who makes two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, what is due to the farmer who has planted this year twice the acreage of wheat that he ever did before?

The war bills of England and America are met by appropriations made by Parliament and Congress respectively. But the American soldiers are preparing to pay Germany's War Bill in full for all his acts.

The man who loves liberty best and would do his utmost for it is the one who is most willing to have the government tell him what he shall eat, how long his coat shall be and how many pockets he may have upon it.

The government desires us to conserve gas and electric light. In the days when the community still harbored young men calling on their best girls, with what fervid patriotism this request would have been carried out!

Officers of the American regiments in France are not allowed to have wine served at their mess tables unless a Frenchman or a guest is present. Some of the officers are considering the advisability of hiring a Frenchman to be permanently attached to the regiment.

ELECTRIC FANS

Installed in Christian Church.

Every once in a while you hear some one say, "it's too hot to go to church", but this need not be an excuse any longer, for recently there has been installed in the Christian church, four large electric fans, in the main auditorium and a large one in the Sunday school room. This is quite an innovation and will add very materially to the comfort of those in attendance these hot and sultry days.

CHAUTAUQUA CLOSES.

Will Return Again in 1919.

The five day program of the Redpath Chautauqua closed last Friday evening, with the interest unabated until the closing number on the last program.

It is very gratifying to its patrons, to know that the Redpath Chautauqua will appear in Lancaster next year, for already pledges sufficient and enough guarantors have signed to insure its return.

Judge F. P. Frisbie who had charge of the ticket sale, is to be congratulated for the financial success of the one just closed, as all guarantors had only to purchase one extra ticket to meet the number subscribed and guaranteed last year.

NOTICE TO WAR STAMP PURCHASERS.

Owing to the short time, those who bought War Savings Stamps for June had to arrange for taking them out in time to avail themselves of the $4.17 rate, many were forced to pay the advanced price. Beside there was a serious shortage, of stamps at all selling agencies.

This was unfortunate, but unavoidable. From this time on we have been assured of an ample supply, provided those buying, will arrange to buy early in the month as possible, to avoid the rush that is sure to come on the last few days of the month.

WAR COSTS U. S.

OVER 12 BILLIONS.

In the final year closing the 30th, the United States has spent approximately $12,650,000,000 for war purposes.

This was ascertained Saturday when expenditures for the month of June were estimated by treasury officials at approximately $1,465,000,000. This is a slight falling off from May's total of $1,508,195,000.

Of the grand total during the year, more than $4,708,000,000 has been expended in the form of loans to the allies. The ordinary running expenses of the government has been $7,568,000,000, with the balance paid out for special work.

Bonds, interest-bearing notes and certificates have brought in $6,747,552,868.91.

TAX COMMISSIONER

Assumed His Duties Last Month.

Garrard county's Tax Commissioner, Mr. A. T. Scott, has opened up his office in the old county court room of the court house and is now prepared and ready to take the list of the tax payers of the county. Under the new law it is the duty of the taxpayer to come to the office of the Tax Commissioner and Mr. Scott has had printed in this office a lot of hand bills apprising the tax payers to this effect.

Mr. M. S. King, son of Mr. Haggard King, who recently moved into this county from Mercer, is to be Mr. Scott's deputy and one of the other will be found in the office every day. We predict that Mr. Scott will make a good Commissioner, performing his duties with credit to the county and the commonwealth.

WAR SAVING STAMP CAMPAIGN TO BE EXTENDED THROUGH WEEK

$40,000 YET TO RAISE.

In the recent drive for War Savings Stamps, Garrard County whose quota was $237,880, raised only about $190,000.

This was due largely to the fact that some districts were not worked properly and in some the people failed to do their duty.

Gunn's Chapel with a quota of $7660 and raised only $1132 was the worst failure. In this district the people failed to do their duty.

On the other hand Bright's Bend with a quota of $3040 raised over $7500. Much credit is due Mr. Green Bowling, the Chairman of that district, for his unceasing efforts in putting his district more than twice over the top. The people there also responded loyally and patriotically. They have the honor and distinction of having their district put at the top of the honor roll.

Other districts which have raised their quota or more are given below, together with the names of the chairmen, all of whom worked faithfully and to whom should be given every credit for their patriotic service.

Those going "over the top" were, Bright's Bend, Green Bowling, Chm. Lancaster, J. A. Beazley, chairman, Herring School, Thomas Arnold, chm. Tenterville, E. B. Ray, chairman, Sunnyside, W. L. Grow, chairman, Mason School, Mason Pollard, chm. Beazley School, Frank Holtzclaw, "Stony Point, W. K. Leavelle, chairman Beechwood, Emory McWhorter, chm West Point, S. L. Gibbs, chairman, Buena Vista, R. D. McMurtry, chm. Manse, C. B. Ledford, chairman, Too much credit can not be given to the ladies who have worked so faithfully in this patriotic cause, for many of them have helped valiantly. Mrs. W. B. Burton who was chairman of the ladies, in this work together with Mrs. Martha Kavanaugh, succeeding in getting a majority of the "Limit Members" deserve to be complimented.

A telegram from Mr. Jas. B. Brown at Louisville, the State Chairman, says the time has been extended one week during which time Garrard County MUST raise her quota. The districts which failed to raise their quota will be worked again this week. Let every man in these districts make up his mind to take more.

Each district must make up its own quota. Each man will be waited upon by a committee some time this week.

"THE KAISER" TO BE AT ROMANS OPERA HOUSE JULY 10TH

Every true blooded American will want to see the "Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin", at Romans Opera House next Wednesday afternoon and night July 10th. Not only citizens of Garrard county, but many from adjoining counties are planning to witness this wonderful picture. It is one of the most astounding pictures ever shown and will make our people realize just what it will mean to America if this war is not won. See the advertisement in this issue.

ROBBED OF $800.00.

In reading the Harrodsburg Herald we notice where the "what ever you call it" show had been robbed after leaving Lancaster. The "Baby Rack" man reported that he had been robbed of $800.00 and various other things, among them a new suit of clothes, a watch, a gold fountain pen, and some war savings stamps. We only print this to show what the shows take out of a town, leaving only a "bad scent" behind, just at the time our soldiers are exposed to every hardship for us. We hope when some of those were throwing balls at the babies or whirling with the damsels, they didn't have a boy "over there", but will remember that others have and that they will need every thing you can send to save this country for you and them.

"BOB" DAVIDSON TO TACKLE HARVEY HELM.

While the Republican committee met in Danville a few weeks ago and picked Judge W. W. Jones, of Adair county to make the race on the Republican ticket against the Hon. Harvey Helm for Congress in this district, he failed to file the necessary papers in time to get on the ballot. His party determined to have an active candidate and have nominated Judge Robert L. Davidson, of Stanford, who has filed his nomination papers and will make the race. He hasn't a chance to defeat Helm, but will have the satisfaction of making the race and of being defeated by an overwhelming majority.

"THE KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN"

ALL THE BELGIAN SWINE (SCENE FROM THE KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN)

"THE KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN" which has been proclaimed the most notable and timely war propaganda picture, is underlined for a days engagement at ROMANS OPERA HOUSE, on JULY 10th. Shows are to be given in the afternoon and night.

The story is from the pen of E. J. Clawson, which is founded on the World's war, without depicting and depressing battle scenes, was pictured by Rupert Julian, who personally gives a masterful interpretation of his Satanic Majesty. The promise is made that this work is among the best of photo-plays that have the terrible conflict as its subject. Intimate scenes and events in the palace of the Kaiser at Potsdam, and at Berlin, from sources of the most reliable authority, gives an insight into the distorted winds of the German war lord and his constituents, who made possible the most horrible of all wars. Among the characters prominent in the history of the war which have been portrayed in the picture, are Generals Pershing, Joffre, Diaz, Haig and King Albert of Belgium. Elmo Lincoln, who will be remembered as the FIGHTING BLACKSMITH in "THE KAISER OF A NATION", as the MIGHTY MAN OF VALOR in "INTOLERANCE", also as TARZAN in "TARZAN OF THE APES" will be seen as the Belgian blacksmith, whose home is wrecked and his family scattered in the invasion of Belgium.

SOLDIER AND SAILOR INSURANCE.

So far more than 3,000,000,000 Government checks have been sent out by the Bureau of War-Risk Insurance, most of which were for allotments and allowances to the families and dependents of the enlisted men in the Army and Navy. The total disbursements of the bureau up to June 10 were more than $98,000,000, of which $97,000,000 was for allotments and allowances.

More than 850,000 checks a month are sent out, approximately 35,000 being mailed out every day. The first checks for the June allotments will be sent out on July 1, just as the first May payments began on June 1. Relatives and dependents of the insured men should remember that the payments for any month can not be paid out sooner than the first day of the succeeding month.

GOING IT TOO HARD?

Overwork, worry, overeating and lack of exercise and sleep are responsible for much kidney trouble. If your back aches and the kidneys seem weak, rest up and use Don's Kidney Pills.

Chris Hutchinson, carpenter, Crab Orchard St., Lancaster, says: "My kidneys were in bad shape and I had a constant pain over my right kidney. As my work calls for a great deal of stooping over, my back ached severely. My kidneys were too frequent in action at times and then again sluggish. The kidney secretions contained sediment. Don's Kidney Pills, from Stormes' Drug Store, soon rid me of the backaches and regulated the action of my kidneys. I am glad to recommend Don's Kidney Pills, for I know they are a good kidney medicine."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Don's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hutchinson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

LIBERTY LOAN INTEREST RATES.

Secretary McAdoo, officially corrects a statement appearing in various newspapers that the Fourth Liberty Loan will bear interest at the rate of 4 1-2 per cent. He states that no thought has been entertained of having the bonds of the fourth loan at a higher rate than 4 1-4 per cent.

It is interesting to recall here the Secretary's appeal in his Third Liberty Loan speeches that the rate of interest for Government loans be stabilized at 4 1-4 per cent. He said then that as an intelligent people we should make a stand for the financing of our Government during the period of the war at a stabilized rate of interest, naming 4 1-4 per cent as the proper figure, so that all business and investments might be adjusted on that basis. In his letter to Majority Leader Kitchin he strongly urges stabilizing the rate at 4 1-4 per cent.

The Secretary of the Treasury has also asserted he did not think that the patriotism of the American people was measured by the rate of interest on a Government bond, and the support the people gave the Third Liberty Loan seems to have justified his belief.

FLAME SPREADS

By ALICE KILLIAN.

"I suppose I've made a life-long enemy out of Mrs. Gordon," Cornelia said, sadly. "I really like her very much, but she is of the frivolous, butterfly type of woman and she does not realize that we are face to face with a very serious condition in this country."

"Serious condition?" repeated Mrs. Connery. "It is all of that."

"You know," began Cornelia, "that this war was worrying me just as little as it is troubling Mrs. Gordon until Bob enlisted and I became interested in Red Cross work. Of course I went to the station to see Bob off when he left for Rockford and the moment I saw that swelling mass of khaki-clad men, all so eager to be of service to their country, something seemed to die within me—the old frivolous Cornelia was no more. I wanted to help; I wanted to feel that I was a part of this great movement. Well, I've done my little bit each day, but it seems so small when you realize how much is needed."

"You've done good work, Cornelia. I never dreamed you'd take hold the way you have."

"The house," said Cornelia, "have a suite of rooms opposite ours. They are really a charming couple, but Mrs. Gordon is very self-centered, and she will not read about nor listen to anything pertaining to the war. Whenever anyone approaches her regarding relief work of any sort, she always claps her hands over her ears distractingly and refuses to listen. She says that it unnerves her to hear about the suffering on the other side; that she doesn't believe conditions as described are possible, and that all such reports are circulated merely to excite our sympathy. No," Cornelia smiled at Mrs. Connery's quick gesture of protest. "I know what you're thinking, but you're wrong. She's a loyal American, but Miss Van Winkle had nothing on her so far as being asleep is concerned."

"This Mrs. Gordon decided to give a party, a formal affair, inviting fifty couples. She had wonderful prizes for those who wanted to play bridge, with a big and costly orchestra to furnish music for dancing. The parlors and dining room were extravagantly decorated and they told me that the chef excelled himself on the supper."

"Didn't you go?" asked Mrs. Connery.

"No," Cornelia replied. "I didn't! I just couldn't. I got to thinking. If I'd close my eyes it would seem to me that an endless chain of weeping nites would pass before me with little arms outstretched. Oh, yes, I know it was just a case of pure nerves, but I can't bear about people being hungry without being upset, so I sent my regrets."

"Thereafter I didn't see anything of Mrs. Gordon until the knitting club's meeting. She was present—and by the way, she wasn't knitting for the soldiers either, but was making a dream of a sweater for herself out of orange yarn. Of course, everybody was talking about the party, and she very pointedly asked me why I wasn't there. I answered her evasively, but she wouldn't be put off, so at last I told her and she almost expired. So did I, for the matter of that," Cornelia acknowledged ruefully. "But I stuck to my guns."

"Do you realize, Cornelia," Mrs. Gordon asked me sarcastically, "that my husband has bought $1,000 worth of liberty bonds?"

"Then your husband has surely done his bit," I answered. "But how about you? Are you doing yours, Mrs. Gordon?" She didn't answer, so I waited a moment and then said: "Ladies, don't you feel that we have a personal interest in this war? Women and children are suffering untold horrors. We are asked to deny ourselves just luxuries, not necessities, that these unfortunate may be taken care of. Is giving elaborate parties really being loyal? I'm with Mr. Hoover—voluntary sacrifices now or war rations later. If we can't realize our country's peril, we should be made to do so."

"What did they say?" Mrs. Connery questioned eagerly.

"Well," Cornelia drawled, "they didn't say much, for, you see, they're all keen to the party. However, several of them are doing Red Cross work now and they never were interested before."

"But what did Mrs. Gordon say?" "Nothing at all to me," Cornelia knitted in silence for a few moments. "But," her eyes danced, "the awful things she's said about me! One thing sure, she'll never invite me to another party!"

Cloves.

Cloves are the dried unexpanded flower buds of a tree. The corolla forms a ball on the top between the four teeth of the calyx, and the stalk is the immature ovary. They are at first green, then turn yellow, and finally bright pink or scarlet. In this last stage they are ready to be picked. If allowed to remain longer on the tree the flowers expand, become fertilized, and the stalk of the clove then develops into a succulent purple berry containing one or two seeds. This is known technically as the "mother clove."

ORDINANCE

The City Council of the City of Lancaster Garrard County Kentucky do ordain as follows:

That all City Taxes (except as otherwise specially provided) shall be due and payable on and after the 1st day of May, after the assessment, and all tax payers whose taxes are not paid on the first day of November after the same are due, shall be deemed delinquent, and such taxes shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum from the first day of November after they are due, until paid, and any person or persons failing to pay their taxes by the first day on November in the year following the assessment for such taxes, shall pay a penalty of 6 per cent additional on the taxes due and unpaid, the Marshal or collector whose duty it is to receive or collect said taxes shall collect the interest and penalty, and account for same, in the same way in which they are "Suffer little children to come unto the taxes."

This ordinance shall be in force after its passage and publication. This June 3rd. 1918.

THE PRESIDENT ON REVENUE LEGISLATION.

Only fair, equitably distributed taxation of the widest incidence and drawing chiefly from the sources which would be likely to demoralize credit by their very abundance can prevent inflation and keep our industrial system free of speculation and waste. We shall naturally turn, therefore, I suppose, to war profits and incomes and luxuries for the additional taxes.

But the war profits and incomes upon which the increased taxes will be levied will be the profits and incomes of the calendar year 1918. It would be manifestly unfair to wait until the early months of 1919 to say what they are to be. It might be difficult, I should imagine, to run the mill with water that had already gone over the wheel.

Moreover, taxes of that sort will not be paid until the June of next year, and the Treasury must anticipate them.—From the President's Address to Congress.

Lancaster, Ky., July 4, 1918

The United States is the only country whose government was constructed upon the principles of human rights and human liberty. The governments of European countries grew up by degrees as extensions and consolidations of the feudal system. They were autocratic, opposed to individual freedom, and any advance in liberty for the body of the people had to be wrung from them by bitter conflict. The United States government, on the contrary, came into being as a guarantee of the liberty of the people.

The first statement in the Declaration of Independence acknowledges man's right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness", and the formation of a new country is based upon the offenses of the king against this right.

The men who signed the Declaration did so as a protest against arbitrary power. They had little to gain and much to lose in the separation from the mother country. American troops were few and undisciplined, American resources undeveloped. The outcome of the struggle for independence seemed at the time more than doubtful. Yet these men with hundreds of their followers, chose to hazard their property, their homes and families and their very lives in defense of the principle of human liberty.

America was victorious in the war, and came to a position where she could develop her power and resources. The United States became one of the great and prosperous nations of the world. But the circumstances of her inception have laid a peculiar obligation upon her. She must stand as the champion of freedom or be recalcitrant to her own traditions.

Our entrance into the war with Germany is the logical outcome of this position. We were predestined to it. The United States could not watch unmoved the spectacle of a great arbitrary power, utterly unscrupulous as to means, using its mighty resources and its strong military system toward the enslavement of Europe.

Our national holiday this year will be both a celebration and a solemnity. We are giving our money power and our man power toward the prosecution of a great war, in order to ensure to the free of this country and the oppressed of Europe the right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness", not only for today, but for generations to come. On this anniversary of the birth of our nation let us feel more than ever that in such a cause no sacrifice can be too great,—that the love of country and the love of humanity are not mere phrases, but a living reality to us all.

The food administration has issued an interesting statement in which we can see the result of the food economies effected by our wheatless and meatless days.

July 1st, 1917, the wheat available for export was estimated at 20,000,000 bushels. In the period from that date to June 1st, 1918, our shipments of wheat to the allies amounted to 120,000,000 bushels.

The largest shipment of beef products in any one month during this period has been 87,000,000 pounds, against the ordinary export of 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 pounds a month. The largest export of pork in one month reached 308,000,000 pounds.

These supplies have been used to help feed the armies of France, Belgium, England, and to some extent Italy. Some of these foodstuffs have also been used for the civilian population of these countries.

It is a splendid record and shows that the care and self-sacrifice of its people have made the United States equal to its great task.

How much of this have YOU saved?

Gorgeous Russian Churches.
There is something about the worship of the Russian churches which deeply impresses the traveler. The typical edifice is large, of a semi-oriental type of architecture, with an excess of color and ornamentation that is only saved from the idiosyncrasy by the harmonious blending of shades and the atmosphere of solemnity which pervades the spacious interior.

Mozart Always Composing.
After stating that while composing Mozart never went to the piano, Nietzsche remarks: "His imagination distinctly and vividly presented to him the whole work he had conceived." Mozart, as he told his father, was always immersed in music, went about with it all day, and liked to speculate, study and reflect. From his wife we learn that his mind was always in motion, that he was continually composing.

Mr. James H. Smith, has just received word from his son, James T. Smith, Jr., announcing his safe arrival in France. "Snake" as he is familiarly known among his friends here at home, enlisted in the old 3rd Kentucky regiment over a year ago, and was transferred to the 149th Infantry, Company I, which is his present address.

Rev. J. R. Moorman has just received a letter from his brother, Hugh Moorman, who is now "somewhere in France" stating that he had been wounded. This is the first intimation that Mr. Moorman had that his brother had been wounded: "On Active Service with the American Expeditionary Force."

June 1st, 1918.

Dear Brother:—

Just a few lines to let you know that I was wounded and am getting along very nice just now. I was hit in the right shoulder by a high explosive shell, a fragment going in about one and one half inches, slightly effecting my right side also. I have been operated on and my wound is doing nicely. I was wounded on the 27th of May, in the (censored) region, the "Boche" attacking us.

Write me soon and let me know how everything is over there.

With love to all,

Your brother,

Sgt. Hugh B. Moorman,

Co. K, 26th Infantry, A. E. F.

The following letter from Joe Barr written from "Somewhere over there" is of interest and shows how much the boys appreciate seeing a copy of their "home paper" every week:

"Somewhere over here",
U. S. S. Florida
care P. M. New York City,
June 6th, 1918.

Editor The Central Record.

Dear Sir:—

Sometime ago, I was reading the Record, and saw some letters from some Garrard County boys, who are now in France. As I am from Garrard, I wish you would put this letter in your good paper.

It seems to me that some one from our county should represent our great Navy, which I have been serving for the past two years. Last November my ship was assigned to foreign duty, where we have been ever since. I am not allowed to say very much about Naval affairs or movements of ships, as the mail is all censored before leaving the ship. Therefore I can't tell much of my Naval career, but we have seen some excitement since we have been over here. It is true we don't get as much liberty as we formerly did, but we don't expect as much while being in the war zone. Last month I had six days leave and had the pleasure of visiting two capitol cities, and several other large cities. I was planning to go to Berlin, to see Kaiser Bill, but transportation is bad over that way, only in the air, so I didn't go.

You would be surprised to know how the women are working, doing men's work, in this country. The girls sure do respect the American uniform, more so than they do in the states, and that is enough to make a man fight. I find every thing lots different from the states, even the money. We sometimes get paid in pounds instead of dollars, but that don't make it go any farther.

I have not much news at the present time, so I will draw to a close.

Wishing all my friends all the good success they may have, and I hope it will not be long before all our boys can return to America, the best place in the world.

You will find enclosed money order sum $1.00 for subscription to your dear paper.

Yours,

Joe Barr."

CORPORAL GILBERT WILSON.

Mr. George Wilson of this county has just received notice that his son, Gilbert, has been wounded in France. The message stating that he was severely wounded on June 5th, in the throat, by the premature explosion of a hand grenade. He is now receiving every attention in a hospital and the message stated that he would be sent home as soon as he was able to travel. Gilbert together with his brother, Hume, were in the second bunch that left this county. Only a few days before he was wounded he wrote his mother the following letter which she has kindly consented for us to publish.

"Somewhere in France,"

May 26, 1918.

Mrs. G. M. Wilson,

Dear Mother:—

Guess you have gotten my card and letter saying that I had arrived safely in France. I have been so long hearing from home. I received a letter today from home and one from all the other boys who are away. It takes a letter twenty five days to reach us. I am feeling fine. I haven't been on the sick report since I have been in the service. I am getting plenty to eat and the diet seems to agree with me. I sure was glad when we landed, I didn't like the sea very much. We had a few rough days and I was so sick.

France is a beautiful place, the buildings are stone and very old.

I will tell you all about my trip when I return. Our Company, 6th Infantry, was inspected by General Pershing this morning, and has quite a reputation.

Hope you are feeling well and all goes well at home. Write me regularly, and don't wait for me to write. My address will not change while I am in France.

Give all the children my love and remember me to others.

Your loving son,

Gilbert.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas God in his all-wise providence has seen fit to remove from the membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of Lancaster, Ky., our deceased brother, G. A. Swinebroad,

Therefore be it resolved:—

1 That in his going away we have lost a faithful member who by his presence at all the services of the church, by his prayers, and by his other aid was a help and an inspiration to the pastor and members.

2 That on account of his constant attendance and knowledge of the lessons, he was an inspiration to the teacher and members of the Men's Bible Class in the Sunday School, where he is greatly missed.

3 That we commend his faithfulness to the church and his loyalty to Christ to his family, friends, church members and all others.

4 That while his going away leaves a vacant place here, we rejoice that he has gone to his reward, the reward of the faithful.

5 That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family; to the Central Record, his home paper; and to the Central Methodist, his church paper which he loved so well.

NOW LET US HAVE A PAY-YOUR-BILLS-CAMPAIGN.

This is a day of campaigns, drives, etc.

Recently we have had Liberty Loan drives, Red Cross campaigns, W. S. S. sales, and so on.

Having become accustomed to these calls upon our patriotism and sense of personal obligations, the end of the first half of the year should find us in a pretty good frame of mind for a Pay-Your-Bills campaign.

There are still a good many business houses and professional men who extend credit for six months to approved customers. Some of these accounts, for different reasons, may go over for twelve months.

To all cases the business man needs the money, and during these times he needs it more than ever.

One person may think that his own indebtedness is of small consequence, especially where the amount involved is not large. Not if a large number of men or families think that way, the sum thus kept out of circulation becomes very considerable.

Another thing to remember is that a dollar started out July 1, or January 1, on its debt-paying journey settles many accounts before it stops. The merchant cannot pay the jobber unless the customer pays the merchant. The jobber cannot square himself with the wholesaler until the merchant settles with the jobber, and so the process goes.

Hundreds of business men who extend credit to customers are compelled to carry notes at the bank until pay-day arrives. This costs them money in the form of interest and if they are unable to meet their obligations when their notes fall due their credit is injured.

Hence let us be fair. Let us start to-morrow morning on our rounds and inaugurate a "Pay-Your-Bills" campaign. We will feel better ourselves and it will help to keep the wheels moving in all directions.—Editorial in Lexington Leader, July 1st.

Why Deering Rakes Are Popular

HERE are points you want in a good rake: Your rake frame must be strong and solidly built. The wheels must stand the torsional strains they will meet in the field. The rake must get all the hay. The dumping arrangement must work easily and quickly and be handled easily. The rake teeth must be strong and resilient to work without breakage.

Every one of these points is found on the Deering rake. Deering rake owners save trouble and temper. Ask any one of them.

Made in sizes 6 1/2 feet to 12 feet. Buy a Deering self-dump rake and get with it good rake service for years.

Miss Lillian K. Estes has returned home after a pleasant visit of two weeks to Mrs. Harvey M. Estes and Mrs. Harlan Muntz of Georgetown.

Mrs. G. M. Treadway and Miss Christine Rucker, of Paint Lick, spent last Wednesday with their sister, Mrs. Jas. G. Conn, near Lancaster.

Misses Mary Arnold of Richmond, and Dorothy Susan Newland of Stanford, have been the attractive little guests of their aunt, Mrs. Lulu Johnson.

Mrs. Joe E. Robinson, Misses Joan Mount and Johnetta Enns, have returned home after a week's stay in Covington with Mrs. George A. McRoberts.

Misses Dorothy Susan Newland and Mary Arnold of Richmond, have returned home after spending the Chautauqua week with Miss Florence Johnson.

Miss Norma Burns Montgomery, one of the popular and efficient operators at the local exchange, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Montgomery, at Bryantville.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Baird of Berea, and Mrs. John Yater and little daughter, Francis, of Lancaster, spent last week with their brother, Andrew Croushorn, who is now at Camp Taylor, and also their mother Mrs. S. F. Croushorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed C. Gaines and son, Claude Rice, are spending a few days in Louisville, this week. Mr. Gaines doesn't think that Lancaster is large enough for him to celebrate "the Fourth" in, hence his visit to larger fields.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Dickerson, Misses Pearl and Katie Barnes Dickerson, left Monday for Cleveland, O., where they will purchase a Chandler touring car for Mr. J. E. Dickerson. They will make a motor trip to Niagara Falls, and other points East, returning by Cincinnati, where they will also visit.

Mrs. R. E. Hughes and daughter, Margaret, returned to Louisville, Friday after a weeks stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller. They were accompanied to Louisville by Mrs. Fred Neighbors who had been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bourne.

Miss Etta Smith, of Hallsville, has accepted a position in New York City, as stenographer and left for that metropolis yesterday. She was accompanied to New York by her aunt, Mrs. H. E. Armstrong, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. William Smith, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. G. Conn entertained at dinner last Tuesday, and Friday in honor of Mr. Conn's brother, Mr. Ed Lee Conn, of Camp Dix, N. J. Those present were his brothers, John A. and Thos. W. Conn, of this place, Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Conn, of Akron, Ohio, and sister, Miss Virginia Conn, of Wilmore.

Mrs. George Harris of Atlanta, arrived this week and is the guest of Judge and Mrs. E. W. Harris, on Maple avenue.

Mrs. Sallie Ashley of Lexington, and Miss Pearl Hampton, of Stanford were guests of Mrs. L. J. Sanford the past week.

Mrs. Sam Haselden and son, J. R., are spending several days in Nicholasville the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Powell Duncan.

Mrs. Maurice Ashley and son, Maurice Sanford, and Miss Isabelle Sanford spent Sunday with Mrs. R. L. Griggs on the Buckeye pike.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Seale, and son, James Darwin, leave Sunday for Dayton, Ohio, to spend a week with Mr. Seale's brother, Mr. M. G. Seale.

Mrs. Forest Fitzgerald and little daughter, Dorothy, of Danville, are the guests of Mrs. Fitzgerald's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wilkinson.

Miss Bessie Gulley entertained Tuesday at a twelve o'clock dinner in honor of Miss Marguerite Woolfork, of Lexington, who is visiting friends and relatives here.

Messrs Courtney, Marvin, Ray Jr. and John Orrell, came in on the morning train from Louisville last Tuesday and will spend the summer with their grand-mother, Mrs. William A. Price.

Mrs. R. Buckner Spindle and attractive little daughter, Marjorie, arrived from their home in Norfolk, Va., Monday, and will spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McRoberts.

"Jimmie" Hilton, who for many years has been the popular clerk for J. E. Starnes, resigned his position there recently and has accepted one with the L. and N. Railway Company with headquarters at Paris Ky.

Dr. and Mrs. M. S. Hatfield motored to Keokuk, Sunday, to see her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Walter. Little Miss Elsie and Master Ernest Hatfield returned home with them, after enjoying a visit to their grandparents, of several weeks.

The following from the Frankfort State Journal is of especial interest here, where the bride is so well known, having often visited the town with her father, Hon. Mat S. Cohen, the present Commissioner of Agriculture.

"The wedding of Miss Anne Bennett Cohen and Lieut. Carlyle Myers was very quietly solemnized in Louisville yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Seelbach Hotel, with Rev. J. J. Gravatt, Jr., rector of the Church of the Ascension, as the officiating minister. There were no attendants and the bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. M. S. Cohen, and besides Mrs. Cohen, the ceremony was witnessed by only a few friends, who included Mr. and Mrs. James L. Newman, and Mrs. Rodman Keenon, of this city.

The bride wore a charming gown of beige tulle with hat of same shade, and her flowers consisted of sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Cohen were hosts at a dinner at the hotel, after which, Lieut. Myers and his bride left for Hustonville, where they will be with relatives of the bridegroom for a few days. They will visit Louisville relatives also, before leaving for Camp Gordon, Atlanta, where Lieut. Myers now is stationed.

Lieut. Myers is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, and of the officers' training camp conducted in the spring at Camp Zachary Taylor. Mrs. Myers is the daughter of State Commissioner of Agriculture Mat S. Cohen and has been a popular member of the younger society set during her residence here.

Lieut. Myers is a Lincoln county boy, a son of Judge W. M. Myers, of Hustonville, and is a splendid young man."

NAMED DIRECTOR.

At a meeting of the stock-holders of the National Bank last Saturday, Mr. G. B. Swinebrowd, was elected unanimously by the board as a director, to succeed Mr. S. D. Cochran, deceased.

The selection of Mr. Swinebrowd is a wise one and his influence and advice will add materially to the success of this splendid institution.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Fired by the news of the sinking of the Lusitania by a German submarine, Arthur Guy Empey, an American, leaves his office in Jersey City and goes to England where he enlists in the British army.

CHAPTER II—After a period of training, Empey volunteers for immediate service and soon finds himself in rest billets "somewhere in France," where he first makes the acquaintance of the ever-present "Flossie."

CHAPTER III—Empey attends his first church service at the front while a German Fokker circles over the congregation.

CHAPTER IV—Empey's command goes into the front-line trenches and is under fire for the first time.

CHAPTER V—Empey learns to adapt the motto of the British Tommy, "If you are going to get it, you'll get it, so never worry."

CHAPTER VI—Back to rest billets, Empey gets his first experience as a mess orderly.

CHAPTER VII—Empey learns how the British soldiers are fed.

CHAPTER VIII—Back in the front-line trench, Empey sees his first friend of the trenches, "Go West."

CHAPTER IX—Empey makes his first visit to a dugout in "Suicide Ditch."

CHAPTER X—Empey learns what constitutes a "day's work" in the front-line trench.

CHAPTER XI—Empey goes "over the top" for the first time in a charge on the German trenches and is wounded by a bayonet thrust.

CHAPTER XII—Empey joins the "autoclave club" as the bombing squad is called.

CHAPTER XIII—Each Tommy gets an official bath.

CHAPTER XIV—Empey helps dig an advanced trench under German fire.

CHAPTER XV—On "listening post" in No Man's Land.

CHAPTER XVI—Two artillerymen "put one over" on Old Pepper, their regimental commander.

CHAPTER XVII—Empey has narrow escape while on patrol duty in No Man's Land.

CHAPTER XVIII—Back in rest billets Empey writes and stages a farce comedy.

CHAPTER XIX—Soldiers have many ways to amuse themselves while "on their own."

CHAPTER XX—Empey volunteers for machine gun service and goes back into the front-line trenches.

CHAPTER XXI—Empey again goes "over the top" in a charge which cost his company 17 killed and 31 wounded.

CHAPTER XXII—Trick with a machine gun silences one bothersome Fritz.

CHAPTER XXIII—German attack, preceded by gas wave, is repulsed.

CHAPTER XXIV—Empey is forced to take part in an execution as a member of the firing squad.

CHAPTER XXV—British prepare for the Big Push—the battle of the Somme.

CHAPTER XXVI—In a trench raid, preceding the Big Push, Empey is desperately wounded and lies unconscious in No Man's Land for 36 hours.

CHAPTER XXVII—After four months in a British hospital, Empey is discharged as "physically unfit for further war service."

After about twenty minutes' wait we went out again and discovered that the Germans had a wiring party working on their barbed wire. We returned to our trenches unobserved with the information and our machine guns immediately got busy.

The next night four men were sent out to go over and examine the German barbed wire and see if they had cut hours through it; if so, this presented an early morning attack on our trenches.

Of course I had to be one of the four selected for the job. It was just like sending a fellow to the nudniker's to order his own coffin.

At ten o'clock we started out, armed with three bombs, a bayonet and revolver. After getting into No Man's Land we separated. Crawling four or five feet at a time, ducking star shells, with strays cracking overhead, I reached their wire. I scouted along this inch by inch, scarcely breathing. I could hear them talking in their trench, my heart was pounding against my ribs. One false move or the least noise from me meant discovery and almost certain death.

After covering my sector I quietly crawled back. I had gotten about half way when I noticed that my revolver was missing. It was pitch dark. I turned about to see if I could find it; it couldn't be far away, because about three or four minutes previously I had felt the butt in the holster. I crawled around in circles and at last found it, then started on my way back to our trenches, as I thought.

Fretful soon I reached barbed wire, and was just going to give the pass-word when something told me not to. I put out my hand and touched one of the barbed wire stakes. It was iron. The British are of wood, while the German are iron. My heart stopped beating; by mistake I had crawled back to the German lines.

I turned slowly about and my hand caught on the wire and made a loud rattling noise.

A sharp challenge rang out. I sprang to my feet, ducking low, and ran hotly back toward our lines. The Germans started firing. The bullets were hitting all around me, when bang! I ran smack into our wire, and a sharp challenge, "Alt, who comes there?" rang out. I gasped out the password, and, groping my way through the line in the wire, feeling my hands and uniform, I tumbled into our trench and was safe, but I was a nervous wreck for an hour, until a drink of rum brought me round.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Staged Under Fire.

Three days after the incident just related our company was relieved from the front line and carried. We stayed in reserve billets for about two weeks when we received the welcome news that our division would go back to the line "in rest billets." We would remain in these billets for at least two months, this in order to be restored to our full strength by drafts of recruits from Blighty.

Everyone was happy and contented at these tidings; all you could hear around the billets was whistling and singing. The day after the receipt of the order we liked for five days, making an average of about twelve kilos per day until we arrived at the small town of O—

It took us about three days to get settled, and from then on our cushy time started. We would parade from 8:45 in the morning until 12 noon. Then except for an occasional billet or brigade guard we were on our own. For the first four or five afternoons I spent my time in bringing up to date my neglected correspondence.

Tommy loves to be amused, and being a Yank, they turned to me for something new in this line. I taught them how to pitch horseshoes, and this game made a great hit for about ten days. Then Tommy turned to America for a new diversion. I was up in the air until a happy thought came to me. Why not write a sketch and break Tommy in as an actor?

One evening after "lights out," when you are not supposed to talk, I imparted my scheme in whispers to the section. They eagerly accepted the idea of forming a stock company and could hardly wait until the morning for further details.

After parole, the next afternoon I was almost mobbed. Everyone in the section wanted a part in the proposed sketch. When I informed them that it would take at least ten days of hard work to write the plot, they were bitterly disappointed. I immediately got busy, made a desk out of board tin in the corner of the billet, and put up a sign "Empey & Wallace Theatrical Co." About twenty of the section upon reading this sign, immediately applied for the position of office boy. I accepted the twenty applicants, and sent them on scouting parties through the deserted French village. These parties were in search of the titles for discarded civilian clothes, and any thing that we could use in the props of our proposed company.

About five that night they returned covered with grime and dust, but loaded down with a miscellaneous assortment of everything under the sun. They must have thought that I was going to start a department store, judging from the different things they brought back from their pillage.

After eight days' constant writing I completed a two-act farce comedy which I called "The Diamond Palace Saloon." Upon the suggestion of one of the boys in the section I sent a proof of the program to a printing house in London. Then I assigned the different parts and started rehearsing. David Bolsoo would have thrown up his hands in despair at the material which I had to use. Just imagine trying to teach a Tommy, with a strong cockney accent, to impersonate a Bowery tough or a Southern negro.

Adjacent to our billet was an open field. We got busy at one end of it and constructed a stage. We secured the lumber for the stage by demolishing an old wooden shack in the rear of our billet.

The first scene was supposed to represent a street on the Bowery in New York, while the scene of the second act was the interior of the Diamond Palace saloon, also on the Bowery.

In the play I took the part of Abe Switch, a farmer, who had come from Pumpkinville Center, Tenn., to make his first visit to New York.

In the first scene Abe Switch meets the proprietor of the Diamond Palace saloon, a rascally old fellow, while the owner was a thousand loss.

The proprietor's name was Tom Twisten, his bartender being named Fellen Up.

After meeting Abe, Tom and Fellen Up persuaded him to buy the place, promising it to the skies and telling wonderful tales of the money taken over the bar.

While they are talking, an old Jew named Ike Cohenstein comes along, and Abe engages him for cashier. After engaging Ike they meet an old Southern negro called Sambo, and upon the suggestion of Ike he is engaged as porter. Then the three of them, was in arms, I have to take possession of this wonderful place which Abe has just paid $5000 for. (Curtain.)

In the second act the curtain rises on the interior of the Diamond Palace saloon, and the audience gets its first shock. The saloon looks like a pig-pen, two tables lying drunk on the floor, and the bartender in a dirty shirt with his sleeves rolled up, asleep with his head on the bar.

Enter Abe, Sambo and Ike, and the fun commences.

One of the characters in the second act was named Broadway Kate, and I had an awful job to break in one of the Tommies to act and talk like a woman.

Another character was Alkali Ike, an Arizona cowboy, who just before the close of the play comes into the saloon and wrecks it with his revolver.

We had eleven three-hour rehearsals before I thought it advisable to present the sketch to the public.

The whole thing was a crazy to witness the first performance. This performance was scheduled for Friday night and everyone was full of anticipation; when bang! orders came through that the brigade would move at two that afternoon. Curbing and blinding was the order of things upon the receipt of this order, but we tacked.

That night we reached the little village of B— and again went into rest billets. We were to be there two weeks. Our company immediately got busy and secured the village for a suitable place in which to present our production. Then we received another shock.

A rival company was already established in the village. They called themselves "The Bow Bells," and put on a sketch entitled, "Blighty—What Hope?" They were the divi-divi of the party.

We hoped they all would be soon in Blighty to give us a chance.

This company charged an admission of a franc per head, and that night our company went on stage to see their performance. It really was good.

I had a strange sensation when I thought of having my sketch in opposition to it.

In one of their scenes they had a sombrero called Flossie. The soldier took this part was clever and made a fine appearing and able girl. We immediately fell in love with her until two days after, while we were on a march, we passed Flossie with "her" sleeves rolled up and the sweat pouring from "her" face unloading shells from a motor lorry.

As our section passed her I yelled out: "Hello, Flossie; Blighty—What Hope?" Her reply made our love die out instantly.

"Ah, go to h—!"

This brought quite a laugh from the marching column directed at me, and I instantly made up my mind that our sketch should immediately run in opposition to "Blighty—What Hope?"

When we returned to our billet from the march, Curley Wallace, my theatrical partner, came running over to me and said he had found a swanky place in which to produce our show.

After taking off my equipment, and followed by the rest of the section, I went over to the building he had picked out. It was a monstrous barn with a platform at one end which would make an ideal stage. The section got right on the job, and before eight had that place rigged out in apple-pie order.

The next day was Sunday and after church parade we put all our time on a dress rehearsal, and it went fine.

I made four or five large signs announcing that our company would open up that evening at the King George the Fifth theater, on the corner of Anno street and Sandling terrace. General admission was one-half franc. First ten rows in orchestra one franc, and boxes two francs. By this time our printed programs had returned from London, and I further announced that on the night of the first performance a program would be given free of charge to men holding tickets costing a franc or over.

We had an orchestra of seven men and seven different instruments. This orchestra was excellent, while they were not playing.

The performance was scheduled to start at 8 p. m.

At 5:45 there was a mob in front of our entrance and it looked like a big night. We had two boxes each accommodating four people, and these we immediately sold out. Then a brilliant idea came to Ike Cohenstein. Why not use the rafters overhead, call them boxes, and charge two francs for a seat on them? The only difficulty on the left, and then the boxholders turned loose; but outside of this little fiasco the performance was a huge success, and we decided to run it for a week.

New troops were constantly coming through, and for six performances we had the "S. H. O." sign suspended outside.

CHAPTER XIX.

On His Own.

Of course Tommy cannot always be producing plays under the but while in rest billets he has numerous other ways of amusing himself. He is a great gambler, but never plays for large stakes. Generally, in each company, you will find a regular "candle." This man banks nearly all the games of chance and is an undisputed authority on the rules of gambling. Whenever there is an argument among the Tommies about some uncertain point as to whether a throw is entitled to Watkins' sixpence, the matter is taken to the recognized authority and his decision is final.

The two most popular games are "Crown and Anchor" and "House."

The paraphernalia used in "Crown and Anchor" consists of a piece of canvas two feet by three feet. This is divided into six equal squares. In these squares are painted a club, diamond, heart, spade, crown, and an anchor one device to a square. There are three dice used, each die marked the same as the canvas. The banker sets up his gambling outfit in the corner of a billet and starts daily looking until a crowd of Tommies gathers around; then the game starts.

The Tommies place bets on the squares, the crown or anchor being played the most. The banker then rolls his three dice and collects or pays out as the case may be. If you play the crown and one shows up on the dice, you get even money, if two show up, you receive two to one, and if three, three to one. If the crown does not appear and you have bet on it, you lose, and so on. The percentage for the banker is large if every square is played, but if the crowd is partial to, say two squares, he has to trust to luck. The banker generally wins.

The game of "House" is very popular also. It takes two men to run it. This game consists of numerous squares of cardboard containing three rows of numbers, five numbers to a row. The numbers run from one to ninety. Each card has a different combination.

The French "estime" in the villages are open from eleven in the morning until one in the afternoon in accordance with army orders.

After dinner the Tommies congregate at these places to drink French beer at a penny a glass and play "House."

As soon as the estimate is sufficiently crowded the proprietors of the "House" game get busy and, as they term it, "form a school." This consists of going around and selling cards at a franc each. If they have ten in the school, the backers of the game deduct two francs for their trouble and the winner gets eight francs.

Then the game starts. Each buyer places his card before him on the table, first breaking up matches into fifteen places.

One of the backers of the game has a small cloth bag in which are ninety cardboard squares, each with a number printed thereon, from one to ninety. He raps on the table and cries out: "Eyes down, my lucky lads!"

All noise ceases and every one is attention.

The croupier places his hand in the bag and draws forth a numbered square and immediately calls out the number. The man who owns the card with that particular number on it, covers the square with a match. The one who covers the fifteen numbers on his card first shouts "House." The other backer immediately comes over to him and verifies the card by calling out the numbers thereon to the man with the bag. As each number is called he picks it out of the ones picked from the bag and says, "Blighty." If the count is right he shouts, "House," correct, pay the lucky gentleman, and sell him a card for the next school. The "lucky gentleman" generally buys one unless he has a miser trace in his veins.

Then another collection is made, a school formed, and they carry on with the game.

The croupier has many nicknames for the numbers such as "Kelly's Eye" for one, "Legs the Eleven" for eleven, "Blighty-blight" for sixty-six, or "Top of the house" meaning ninety.

The game is honest and quite enjoyable. Sometimes you have fourteen numbers on your card covered and you are waiting for the fifteenth to be called. In an inspiring voice you call out, "Come on, Watkins, damn, I'm sweating on 'Kelly's Eye.'"

Watkins generally replies, "Well, keep out of a draft, you'll catch cold." Another game is "Bottom," played with cards; it is the same as our "Black Jack," or "Twenty-one."

A card game called "Rag" is also popular. Being a card game, the dealer deals each player three cards. It is similar to our poker, except for the fact that you only use three cards and cannot draw. The deck is never shuffled until a man shows three of a kind or a "pelle" as it is called. The value of the hands are, high card, a pair, a run, a flush or three of a kind or "prile." The bluff is generally a penny, so it is hard to win a fortune.

The next in popularity is a card game called "Nap." It is well named. Every time I played it I went to sleep. Whist and solo whist are played by the highbrows at the company.

When the gamblers tire of all other games they try "Banker and Broker."

INCREASED TAXATION NECESSARY.

Secretary McAdoo's position relative to taxation for the coming year was frankly and positively stated in his letter to Majority Leader Kitchin of the House of Representatives. He wrote in part:

"We can not afford to rely upon $4,000,000,000 only for taxation, because we shall then have to rely on raising $20,000,000,000 by loans. This would be a surrender to the policy of high-interest rates and inflation, with all their evil consequences."

"If we are to preserve the financial strength of the Nation we must do sound and safe things, no matter whether they hurt our pockets or involve sacrifices—sacrifices of a relatively insignificant sort compared with those our robbers and milners are making to save the life of the Nation."

"The sound thing to do unquestionably is to increase taxation, and the increases should be determined upon promptly and made effective at the earliest possible moment."

The Secretary's recommendations briefly are that one-third (estimated at $8,000,000,000) of the cash expenditures to be made during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, be provided for by taxation, a real war-profits tax at a high rate upon all war profits, a substantial increase in the amount of normal income tax upon all so-called unearned incomes and heavy taxation upon all luxuries.

CONVERSION OF LIBERTY BONDS.

Liberty bonds of the first and second issues and those obtained by converting bonds of the first issue into 4 per cent bonds can be converted into 4 1/2 per cent Liberty bonds during the six months' period beginning May 9 and ending November 9, 1918. The new bonds will be dated May 9, 1918.

After November 9, 1918, no further rights of conversion will attach to the 4 per cent bonds, either the original bonds of the second loan or those obtained by conversion of bonds of the first loan. All of the 4 1/2 per cent bonds are nonconvertible.

Bonds for conversion may be surrendered at any Federal reserve bank or at the Treasury Department. Registered bonds must be assigned to the Secretary of the Treasury for conversion, but such assignment need not be witnessed.

In conversion of registered bonds registered bonds only will be delivered, neither change of ownership permitted.

Coupon bonds, however, may be converted into registered bonds upon request. Coupon bonds must have the May 16 or June 15, 1918, coupons detached and all subsequent coupons attached. Coupon bonds issued from conversion will have only four interest coupons attached, and later must be exchanged for new bonds with the full number of coupons attached.

AUCTION SALE

Choice Farming Lands on

On Wednesday, July 31st, 1918

at 10 o'clock A. M., on the farm, we will sell at Public Outcry to the highest and best bidder the farming lands consisting of about 203 acres, situated on the Danville and Stanford pike close to the Boyle and Lincoln County line, about 4 1/2 miles from Danville, county seat of Boyle county, 5 miles from Stanford, county seat of Lincoln County, about 4 1/2 miles from Junction City, junction of the C. N. O. and T. P. and the L. and N. railways, and known as the Logan farm.

Will be offered first in two tracts, both to front on said pike and then as a whole, and the bid realizing the most to be accepted.

This land is nicely improved, well watered, highly productive, all tillable, and having two tenant houses and a large tobacco and stock barn. There is no better purchase to be found in Central Kentucky either from the standpoint of quality of soil, convenience or desirability of location for a home, accessibility to market, or yield per acre in crops. Well watered and thoroughly adapted to live stock. No waste land. Ownership is in itself a guarantee of both income and profit.

Sale Will Be For 1-3 Cash

Balance deferred payments equal amount due in two and three years with 6 per cent interest, from date of sale, notes with lien retained in deed in land as security.

Growing crops for 1918 reserved from sale; possession January 1st, 1919, with seeding privileges to purchase this fall.

Stories of Activities and Conditions Throughout the United States and on the Battle Fronts, from Washington, D. C.

Immense Stores Needed to Feed Men on Transports.

An account of how soldiers are fed at sea is given in the daily newspaper published on the transport:

"Outside of providing 210,000 meals a day, the mess officer of the ship has very little to do. Very little."

"He is called upon to provide, by the regulations, 180 different varieties of food. That's all. Ever try to order 180 different things to eat? Yet this is the authentic list."

"The food needed to feed several thousand men at sea ranges beyond the glutton's dreams. You get the answer in the ship down below the water line, where 7,290 loaves of bread have been baked in one day, and where you stumble over every variety, from 60,000 pounds of beef to 132,000 eggs, or a compartment of brick ice cream in a 10-degree-above-zero vault."

"And if this doesn't suit, you can bump along into 49,324 pounds of potatoes, 7,100 pounds of ham and bacon, 7,800 pounds of butter, 9,200 pounds of sugar, and 61,500 pounds of flour."

"If you can't get a meal out of this you can still fall back on 4,600 pounds of sausage, 3,400 pounds of sauerkraut, 26,000 pounds of apples, 19,800 pounds of oranges, and 4,200 pounds of onions. And this leaves out 1,600 pounds of inn and 3,400 pounds of inn and navy beans."

Money Instead of Merchandise.

Should be Sent to Soldiers.

The original order for the approval of a regimental or brigade commander was necessary, before packages might be sent to members of the expeditionary forces has been modified so officers with the rank of major and higher may approve shipments. The approval of a company commander is not sufficient.

The question of the shipment of parcels to France first came to the attention of the War Department when the commanding general of the expeditionary forces called that collection of such articles had reached such a point that French railroads were unable to handle the load.

A board appointed by the Secretary of War and the Postmaster General examined 5,000 sacks of parcel post mail, and found that the articles being sent not only, in the main, were absolutely unnecessary, but undesirable. The investigation showed that the amount of such mail had reached a total of 500,000 pounds a week, and was steadily increasing.

Relatives and friends, according to a recent statement by the War Department, will find they often can do a greater service to soldiers by sending them money for the purchase of articles in France than by forwarding the articles. Tobacco is now being supplied as part of the Army rations, and merchandise of nearly all kinds may now be purchased in France through the huge general store established by the Quartermaster Corps at lower prices than charged by retailers here.

Army Medical Department Declares War on Flies and Mosquitoes.

Special attention is being given by the Medical Department of the Army in all camps to cleaning up spots where mosquitoes and flies breed. In some cases it has been necessary to dig channels in streams, drain swamps, and put in elaborate ditching systems to clean up stagnant pools and streams. In cases where it has been impossible or impracticable to drain swamps and do similar work, there has been installed a system for keeping slow-moving streams and still bodies of water covered with oil. At all points within the camp where there is the slightest possibility of mosquitoes or flies breeding daily spraying of oil is done.

Arrangements have been completed with the Federal Public Health Service to carry out a similar program in the territories adjacent to the camps. The Health Service has agreed to fill bogs, open streams, and drain swamps, and continue the oil spraying for a distance of 1 mile around each camp.

Special precautions have been taken to prevent the spread of disease by flies. Instructions were given on the disposal of materials that were likely to become breeding spots. Arrangements were made to protect all food from flies. With this end in view, all buildings in which food is prepared or stored were screened. Entrances to the buildings have been vestibuled. An average of 6,000 flytraps have been placed in each camp. More than 22,700,000 square feet of screening has been placed in all camps.

Dental Corps of Army Can Take Care of 5,000,000 Men.

The dental requirements of an army of more than 5,000,000 men can now be met by the present force of the Dental Corps of the United States Army. Examinations have been closed and no further additions will be made to the corps for some time. The number of dental officers has expanded since war was declared from 58 to 5,819. Commissioners were offered to 5,467 dentists in all parts of the country, and all but 271 were accepted.

The average number of dental billings in the Army ranges from 225,000 to 250,000 a month. Special dental infirmaries have been established in the camps and cantonments, to which newly inducted soldiers are sent for examination shortly after arrival in the camps.

A school for dental instruction has been established, where 85 officers are assigned each month to take the 2-months' course.

New Regulations Provide for Importation of Mexican Labor.

To assist in meeting the present shortage in unskilled labor restrictions have been temporarily removed on the importation of Mexican labor to be used in certain occupations. This step supplements the order by which the Department of Labor has arranged to bring Porto Rican laborers to this country for work on Government contracts. It is estimated that 75,000 islanders can be brought to this country for work on Government contracts.

On the subject of Mexican labor contain rigid provisions which may attempt to restrict the number of prospective employers. Wage rates current for similar labor in the localities in which the admitted labor is to be employed are assured, as well as good housing and sanitation conditions.

Applications for permission to import Mexican labor under the new provisions may be filed with United States immigration or employment service officials, giving the number of laborers desired, class of work wages and place of employment.

Food Ration to Be Carried in Gas-proof Container.

The Quartermaster's Department is now supplying gas-proof food containers to the soldiers in the zone of operations in France. These containers prevent seepage of gas into the containers and guard against contamination of the food. The men carry their emergency rations in the containers and all food brought up to the trenches is carried in the new tins.

After the food is packed in the containers they are hermetically sealed. It is planned to use paraffine for sealing as it settles in the crevices in such a way that it must be cut before the lids can be taken off. It can be applied by running the containers through a paraffine bath.

Because the supply of tin is limited and there may not be enough to supply the needs of the Army the Quartermaster's Department is experimenting with the wax paper box. Tests made show that these boxes meet all conditions satisfactorily. The tins and boxes both are vermin and water proof.

German Firm Advertises Paper for Varied Uses.

An advertisement in a Berlin newspaper, reported by the "Information Belges", shows some of the many uses to which paper is being put in Germany:

"Paper stuff for dresses and aprons."
"Paper stuff for business suits."
"Paper stuff for manufacture of suits."

"Paper stuff for upholstery and tapestries."
"Paper stuff for trunks and bags."

"Paper stuff for bags, pillowcases, and mattresses."
"Splendid assorted lot for sale."

Many Attractions Staged in the 42 Camp Theaters.

There are now 42 theaters, which cost over $500,000, in operation in camps and cantonments throughout the country. Nearly 100 vaudeville acts have been brought from the large circuits to play in these theaters only; about 50 acts have been secured from Chautauqua and lyceum bureaus; 35 comedy companies are playing in these theaters exclusively. Some of these are original New York companies, playing the summer season only, with expenses reduced about two-thirds.

The camps have been divided into two circuits. In one the Liberty theaters seat 3,000, in the other, the houses are smaller, having a capacity of about 1,000 each. It takes from 14 to 25 weeks for a production to be staged in each house of either circuit.

Railroad Administration Makes Provision for Wheat Handling.

The box-car situation is better at present than it has been at any time during the last three years, according to advice received by the department of Agriculture from the Railroad Administration.

On May 1 box cars began to move into wheat territory, and wheat-carrying roads are expected to have on their lines more than the normal amount of cars owned by them. Cars are being parked in wheat-loading territory, which was impossible last year. The Railroad Administration will continue to move cars into wheat districts as long as there is any indication that additional cars will be needed.

Wheat stenographers and typists are now being enrolled in the Naval Reserve.

A group of women are at work in the construction of an mask at Long Island gasolene plant.

About 50 substance inspectors of the Army attended a school of one week recently held at Washington, D. C., to receive instruction in methods to standardize the inspection of food.

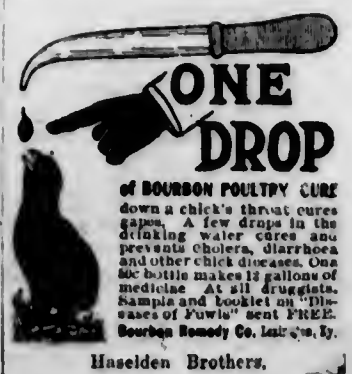

Monthly magazines to be sent to soldiers and sailors should not be more than two months old, according to the Post Office Department, and weekly publications should not be more than three weeks old.

In answer to queries regarding the protection afforded against mus-hus from the Expeditionary force by American masks, world Forces that no information has been received that any box respirator of American or English manufacture has been penetrated in the field.

Three temporary office buildings, providing working space for 6,250 persons, have been built in 10 weeks in Washington, D. C., by the construction division of the army, without the employment of a contractor. One, a 3-story structure, 494 feet long, 260 feet wide, with a floor space of 270,000 square feet, was already for occupancy 24 working days after the first spadeful of earth was turned.

The Army Medical Department has developed a mobile X-ray outfit for use near the front, carried on a modified Army ambulance. It consists of a standard portable outfit made up of a DeLoe gas electric set, high-tension transformer, special type Coolidge tube, and includes an X-ray table, dark room, and complete set of apparatus for the localization of foreign bodies. Some of these outfits are already in service abroad and 55 are in course of shipment.

Forty-six societies representing 22 nationalities of foreign-born citizens prepared monster celebrations, pageants, parades, and speech making in the principal cities of the United States for July 4. Represented in the group were Armenians, Assyrians, Belgians, Chinese, Czechoslovaks, Danes, Dutch, Finns, French, French-Canadians, Germans, Greeks, Hungarians, Italians, Japanese, Lithuanians, Norwegians, Poles, Portuguese, Russians, Roumanians, South Slavs, Swedes and Swiss. In May, these societies appealed to President Wilson to issue a proclamation calling upon all native Americans to unite with the foreign born in observing the national holiday, and plans for many celebrations developed after the proclamation was issued.

G. A. SWINEBROAD

The guests of the Kengarrin, where the late Mr. G. A. Swinebroad and wife have taken their meals for years will miss the presence of this kindly gentleman. Even the passing guest was attracted by the gentle and unassuming solicitude of Mr. Swinebroad for his frail wife which drew toward him the admiring regards of his fellow diners. Mr. and Mrs. Swinebroad's long attendance at the hotel, and their ready sense of hospitality gave to their table a feeling of cheerful "hominess"; the occasional guest with no accustomed seat, who dropped tentatively into a place at the table of Mr. and Mrs. Swinebroad was at once made to feel at ease and drawn into kindly, pleasant talk.

It is so, in the days of our lives, that it is often in casual, unstudied ways, that we fix our selves most surely in the affectionate remembrance of our fellows.

BROTHERS

Miss Aline Brothers, who recently died near Versailles, spent the last ten months in the home—so welcome, so congenial to her declining days—with her first cousin, Judge Forest Stapp of this place. Miss Brothers and Judge Stapp were first cousins, their mothers being sisters of the late Misses Wilson, noted literary characters of Lexington, Ky. She leaves two brothers of Mortonville, Ky.

She had been an invalid for many months. Three weeks before the end came she requested to be taken to the home of her brother, Paul Brothers, where she passed to the Great Beyond last Tuesday, and was laid to rest beside her parents at a most picturesque country vine-clad churchyard, Pisgah.

Miss Brothers was 45 years of age, a loyal, staunch Presbyterian from early childhood. The church always found her generous. To her the whole inspiration of life was the Bible—the Book of Books. 'Tis only the last day will reveal to her many friends influenced by her morals of right living full of promise. But the end offers that hope which comes of an abiding faith in God, whispering about the night of death, "The morn will be brighter still".

MRS. W. G. ANDERSON

Again has the grim Reaper spoken and another of Lancaster's most splendid citizens and exquisite characters has been called to her reward but the sting of sorrow has to some extent been assuaged by the fact that like the golden grain she was full and ready for the harvest. The rhairs around Garrard's family table of noble sons and daughters who have long ago made her famous for true heartedness and hospitality and have glorified her name by unselfish and splendid acts are becoming empty with alarming rapidity and to one of her sons who strayed away from the old home years ago it seems that almost every letter during the last few years tells of the departure of some beloved soul from the burdens of life to the fair still fields of eternity.

In the death of Mrs. William G. Anderson the community and in fact that entire section of the state has lost indeed a womanly woman in all that that name implies and a character which is very rare in these days of selfishness and egotism. She was one of the most splendid women it has ever been my pleasure to meet for if ever there was a soul who was utterly forgetful of self in her anxiety to do something for others it was Mrs. Anderson and instead of always or even occasionally censuring she invariably found some excuse for the wrong doings of others. She was the truest friend I ever knew and she would fight the battles for one she loved a great deal more quickly than she would her own. She was a Christian in the highest sense. Not in merely performing and complying with the cold ritual of the church but in her every day life there shone forth in her every act the very spirit of the Christ and Heaven was not strange to her when she entered therein for she had builded one on earth and in her beautiful character she was the epitome of that lovely land and her spirit, disenthralled, sped through its portals as if she was entering her very home.

The writer counted her as one of his very best friends and all during the life lived by me in that community she was a second mother to me. Her son being my boy-hood chum I had the opportunity of knowing her better than any one else save her children and I am not ashamed to say that the tears of sorrow filled my eyes when I read the news of her death.

Lancaster and in fact the entire county, I know, was the better for her having lived therein and it will be a long, long while before it can reconcile itself to the loss it now sustains.

A true and loving wife, a devoted mother, a staunch and faithful friend, a delightful neighbor, a magnificent citizen, altogether an extraordinary woman whose life will be a beautiful example to all who knew her and in her death a benediction to the ground she hallows.

I thank God that it was my fortune to have known her and I praise His name that I glorified in her friendship as sweet and as motherly as was ever given to one not her own.

LIKE A BOY OF EIGHTEEN

L. & N. Agent and Cotton Broker at Bartlett, Tenn., Relates Remarkable Experience as Result of Taking the Great Vin Hepatica Prescription.

"I feel like a boy of eighteen, although I am now sixty-nine years of age," declares Mr. W. E. Smith, L. & N. agent and cotton broker of Bartlett, Tenn., after taking Vin Hepatica.

"Up until a short while ago my friends thought I would live only a short while, I had been suffering so from indigestion and general breakdown. I had pneumonia in January, was all run down, and weak in the knees and extremely nervous.

"I saw in the papers what the great nature Vin Hepatica prescription was doing for others, and my wife insisted on my trying it. After going to the Weiss Pharmacy, Main and Union Sts., Memphis, and talking the matter over with Mr. Philpot, and being shown that Vin Hepatica is really a nature remedy, I began to take it immediately with the most remarkable results.

"I have been with the L. and N. for thirty-eight years, and at Bartlett for thirty-four years. Am also a cotton broker, and now that I feel like a boy again, I want everyone to know what I think of Vin Hepatica, and to write me if they want to at Bartlett, Tenn., and I will tell them, for it is truly a great medicine."

Such testimonials as this are coming in from all directions, and we heartily recommend this great Vin Hepatica prescription for anyone who suffers from stomach, kidney, liver, and bowel trouble, is nervous, weak, or run down. It is a mighty fine spring and summer tonic.
